What is Gandhian philosophy?

Gandhian Philosophy is the religious and social ideas adopted and developed by Mahatma Gandhi.

Roots of Gandhian Philosophy

Gandhi was born in India in 1869. From 1893 to 1914 he lived in South Africa. Later, he emerged as the face of Indian freedom movement.

The base of Gandhian philosophy is the spiritual or religious component. He was a firm believer in God.

He was also a believer in humanity.

He believed that human nature is good. He considered all people are capable of moral development.

Gandhiji developed these ideologies from various inspirational sources such as Bhagavad Geeta, Jainism, Buddhism, Bible, Gopal Krishna Gokhale, Tolstoy, and John Ruskin among others.

Leo Tolstoy's book 'The Kingdom of God is within you' had a deep influence on Mahatma Gandhi. The same was the case with John Ruskin's 'Unto This Last'.

Gandhiji paraphrased Ruskin's book 'Unto This Last' as 'Sarvodaya', which meant the upliftment of all.

The relevance of Gandhian Philosophy in Modern Times

Economics

Make in India is a manifestation of Gandhi's ideals of self-sufficiency.

Gandhi's philosophy of inclusive growth is fundamental to the building of a resurgent rural India.

He believed in "production by the masses" rather than in mass production, a distinctive feature of the industrial revolution.

Environment

Gandhi warned the country of unrestricted industrialism and exploitation of nature for human greed.

The results of not adhering to Gandhian environmentalism are serious environmental damage and non-sustainable development.

Administration

The 'Gandhian Philosophy' is provided to students by library of HEI and made available to the all staff and students.
